Recommendation Letter for Haobin Tan

To whom it may concern,

It is my distinct pleasure to recommend Haobin Tan. I have managed Haobin for three years and ten months as Head of the Department Concept Development Camera and Ultrasonic Sensors. During this time, he worked as a machine learning engineer and project coordinator at Continental (Nov 2022 – Aug 2025) and subsequently at AUMOVIO (Sep 2025 – Sep 2026), contributing to an AI based vision system. In my role as his manager, I observed his work closely and can confidently speak to his professional abilities.

Haobin consistently demonstrated deep expertise in artificial intelligence, computer vision, and camera technologies, together with a high degree of ownership and the ability to drive complex development activities to completion. He contributed hands on across the full AI engineering lifecycle and translated complex technical requirements into robust, product-oriented solutions.

Haobin led an AI-based vision project from a concept through customer nomination and preparation for series development, translated research level results into deployable software components, and delivered a product-oriented solution to customers. He structured development workstreams, coordinated technical dependencies and milestones, ensured technical decisions aligned with product requirements, and aligned cross functional teams across Europe, the United States, China, and India.

In addition, he played an important role in establishing the solution as a strategic product priority, driving customer engagement, and securing executive level visibility up to board level. He represented the project at major events and trade fairs, including IAA, where his presentations raised the project's profile with customers, partners, and other key stakeholders for business opportunities.

What distinguishes Haobin is the combination of AI engineering expertise, customer focus, structured execution, and strong stakeholder communication. He served as a key intercultural interface, and communicated effectively in English, German, and Chinese. It is my pleasure to recommend Haobin Tan for senior roles in AI engineering, AI enabled product development, and technical program leadership. I am confident that his technical expertise and collaborative approach will make him a valuable contributor to any organization deploying advanced AI solutions.
